Policy On Red China Unveiled By Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and China announced today they will establish official governmental liaison offices in Washington and Peking to speed up normalization of relations between the two countries.

The development was announced in a joint communique issued in Washington and Peking.

Presidential aide Henry A. Kissinger said the offices will serve as the principal contact points on the expansion of trade "as well as all other matters except the strictly formal diplomatic aspects" of ties between the countries.

Kissinger said the liaison offices will have full diplomatic privileges but will in no way imply establishment of formal diplomatic relations.

Kissinger, who returned Tuesday from four days of extensive talks in Peking with Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung and Premier Chou En-lai, also disclosed that:

—Two American airmen held prisoner by China since being shot down over Chinese territory will be released in the next few weeks. They are Air Force Maj. Philip E. Smith, a prisoner since Sept. 20, 1965, and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Robert J. Flynn, held since Aug. 21, 1967.

—The life sentence of John Thomas Downey, a Central Intelligence Agency employee held since the Korean War, will be reviewed in the last half of the year. Kissinger said he had been told Downey's sentence could be shortened for good behavior and that he was informed Downey's conduct as a prisoner had been exemplary.

—The United States has no immediate plans to withdraw its remaining military forces from the Chinese Nationalist island of Taiwan but the subject will be reviewed periodically, with decisions based principally on Washington's assessment of the danger of war in the area.

—Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Chinese Foreign Minister Chi Peng-fei will begin discussions in Paris next week on settlement of private American claims against China, totalling some $250 million, and some $78 million of blocked Chinese assets in the United States. The aim will be to resolve the issues quickly through negotiations.

New Laotian Truce Widely Violated

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao troops captured two towns in southern Laos today after the cease-fire began at noon and made heavy attacks on government positions south of the Plain of Jars, informed sources reported.

"There have been massive violations," said one source.

Laotian military sources gave guarded confirmation of the cease-fire violations and the size of the attacks.

Reports from the south said government troops were in full retreat toward the Mekong River from the town of Paksong. The reports said they evacuated the town at 12:15 p.m., 15 minutes after the cease-fire, in the face of heavy shelling and ground attacks by units of the North Vietnamese 8th Regiment.

Paksong, which has been captured and lost twice in recent weeks, is 30 miles east of Pakse, an important Mekong River town and the headquarters of the rightist political faction.

The sources said the North Vietnamese also drove government troops out of Muong Phalane, 36 miles northeast of Savannakhet, another important Mekong River town halfway between Vientiane and Pakse.

North Vietnamese units also were reported to have continued heavy attacks against Gen. Vang Pao's CIA-supported army of Meo tribesmen on the southern edge of the Plain of Jars.

U.S. air attacks on the North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao stopped several hours before noon, and there was no expectation they would be resumed because of the reported Communist violations of the cease-fire. America's South Vietnamese allies in Saigon have charged the Communists there with thousands of ceasefire violations, but there has been no resumption of U.S. air raids.

The cease-fire began 25 hours after the signing in Vientiane of a peace accord between the Vientiane government headed by Prince Souvanna Phouma and the Pathet Lao, whose titular leader is Souvanna's half brother, Prince Souphanouvong. Souvanna was present, but Sou-phanouvong presumably was in Sam Neua, the Pathet Lao capital in northeast Laos.

The Vientiane regime and the Pathet Lao are to form a new coalition government made up of equal numbers from each faction and two additional neutralists. Prince Souvanna is expected to be one of these and to continue as premier. But there was no indication yet when the two factions would get down to forming the government.

Nor was anything being done about setting up the machinery for supervision of the ceasefire. The agreement delegates this to the International Control Commission made up of India, Canada and Poland which, since the 1954 Geneva Agreement on Indochina, has been prevented by Communist blocking tactics from doing anything.

Anyone without a ticket is out of luck as no tickets will be sold at the door at Groveport High School.

Winthrop Rockefeller Dies In California

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller, the former Arkansas governor and one of five children of multimillionaire John D. Rockefeller, died today at Desert Hospital, a family spokesman said. He was 60.

Rockefeller was admitted to the hospital a week ago with a chest ailment.

the Israelis. But a Lebanese newspaper charged him with hypocrisy, likening him to "a murderer who attends the funeral of his victims."

Israel said its fighters fired on the Boeing 727 Wednesday because the airliner's French pilot refused to heed orders to land after flying over Israeli military installations along the Suez Canal.

The death toll today apparently stood at 105. The Libyan airline said there were 112 persons aboard the plane, including nine crew members, and Israel said nine survivors were pulled from the wreckage. But two of the survivors—both women—died during the night.

The Israeli military command said 90 bodies had been recovered. The search for the rest was hampered by a sandstorm during the night.

The Libyan airline said five of the crew were French, two of the passengers were German and the others aboard were Libyans, Egyptians, Jordanians, Lebanese, Palestinians and Sudanese. Two Frenchmen were among the survivors, the first officer and a steward.

The nonaligned group of countries at the United Nations in New York expressed "solidarity with the countries which have been the victims of the Israeli aggression" and called upon "the international community to put an end to the policy of Israel."

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim expressed "shock and condolences" to Libya and "regret and concern" to Israel.

The London Times charged the Israelis with "at the least a reckless act of killing of civilians and, as such, inexcusable even if, in contrast to the murders of which Israel has been the victim, it was not wholly premeditated."

The airliner was downed 12 hours after Israeli commandos raided Arab guerrilla bases at the northern end of Lebanon. Israel said the raiders killed 50 guerrillas, but Arab guerrilla sources put the death toll between 15 and 26.

constitutional standards and that any deviation from equality had to be justified.

Whatever, the decision is likely to serve as a clear signal to the states that they can apportion their legislatures without breaking up city and county lines so long as the mathematical deviation is not much larger than 16.4 per cent.

Rehnquist indicated, however, that going much further may not be permissible. He said the Virginia deviation "may well approach tolerable limits."

Rehnquist's majority opinion championed the policy of maintaining the integrity of political subdivisions. Evidently, other states would have similar success in the high court with that explanation.

Some lower federal and state courts could find the ruling puzzling. As Brennan pointed out, apportionment plans for Connecticut, Iowa, Texas, Louisiana, Illinois, Kansas and Alabama had been invalidated even though the deviations were much smaller than the 16.4 per cent in the Virginia plan.

The liberal justice said the Northern Virginia suburbs of Washington will be under-represented. Discrimination against voters in one area, he suggested, should concern the court more than county lines.

But the time Brennan and the justices who agreed with him, William O. Douglas and Thurgood Marshall, were in the minority.

A new majority had formed around Justices Potter Stewart and Byron R. White, who had reservations about the old "one-man, one-vote" decisions, and three Nixon appointees—Rehnquist, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice Harry A. Blackmun.

The fourth, Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., did not participate, apparently because of past association with one of the lawyers in the case.

Vietnam Bonus Question To Be Delayed Until Fall

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An "unofficial" conference committee was asked to resolve legislative differences in Vietnam veterans' bonus proposals today, but the outlook for action in time for the issue to go on the May primary ballot was bleak at best.

Today is the deadline for completing legislative approval if the proposal is to be certified for the ballot. The hangup centered on a controversy over how to pay off the required $300 million in bonds.

It was a question of whether to do it with perennially unpopular new taxes, or to commit the state's general revenue fund to pay the bill in $24 million annual installments over the next 15 years. Most observers predicted the raises would be held up until the November election.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, announced Wednesday the appointment of the conference committee, an unusual move since the two chambers normally do not use that device until after both houses have voted on an issue.

The bonus passed the House, but was up for action today in the Senate, where majority Republicans have changed its financing provisions. They want the bonds retired with general fund revenue.

House Democrats insisted on a .6-mill property tax levy.

Gray said he was naming Sens. Howard C. Cook, R-Toledo; Walter L. White, R-12 Lima, and Oliver Osease, D-27 Northfield, to the "unofficial" conference committee. In the House, Speaker A.G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, designated Speaker Pro Tem Vernai G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, and Majority Floor Leader Barney Quilter, D-47 Toledo, as conferees.

Lancione said he would leave the selection of the third House conferee up to Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg. But Kurfess said Wednesday night: "I don't even know what an unofficial conference committee is. No one has contacted me about it."

There were reports, meanwhile, that a delay might be agreed on to await the fate of a state lottery amendment which already has been placed on the May ballot.

Andrews Will Meet With County Chairmen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Republican Party Chairman John Andrews said Wednesday he'll be meeting with county GOP chairman during the next six weeks to discuss upcoming campaigns.

Andrews met with a group of about ten chairmen from metropolitan counties Wednesday. He said discussions centered on municipal elections this fall and reviewing candidates for General Assembly seats next year.

Court's Remap Ruling Studied By States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Earl Warren considered the "one-man, one-vote" rulings the most important in his 16 years as chief justice.

On Wednesday, its lineup changed, the Supreme Court signaled a readiness to cut back, as it has on the rights of criminal defendants and other Warren landmarks.

Approved by a 5-3 vote was an apportionment plan for the Virginia House of delegates in which the population spread from the smallest to the largest district is at least 16.4 per cent.

The author of the majority opinion was Justice William H. Rehnquist, the most dogmatic of the four conservatives named to the court by President Nixon. He said absolute equality could get in the way of the normal functioning of state and local governments.

Rehnquist and the principal dissenter, Justice William J. Brennan Jr., clashed over whether the court was breaking precedent.

Rehnquist insisted that even in 1964, when the court first applied "one-man, one-vote" to state legislatures, it permitted greater leeway than in drawing U.S. congressional districts.

Brennan, on the other hand, said the court had never applied two different

Logan Elm Board Approves 4 Mill Tax Levy For May Primary Election

Should voter approval of a tax levy be sought in May or November? was the question posed to Logan Elm school board members at a meeting Tuesday.

The meeting, an extension of the Feb. 5 session, was called to allow the board to reach a decision on the tax levy, which is needed to maintain normal school operation, according to the superintendent.

Superintendent Henn noted that there was no question about whether the tax should be proposed to voters or not. "We have already initiated plans to slash expenditures by cutting out building repair, textbook purchase, school bus purchase and reduction in supplies," he commented.

These measures, already in effect, offer limited assistance to the district, affecting only 15 to 20 per cent of the district's total budget. It was the board's decision to request from the citizens an additional 4 mills to operate the schools on and to have the levy appear on the primary ballot May 8.

Henn stresses that the 4 mills will provide enough funds to maintain a normal operating of the school, but is not intended and will not be used for salary increases.

At Tuesday's session, the board granted Superintendent Henn permission to attend a meeting yesterday called by the so-called "wealthy districts" in the state.

"I was surprised to find 90-plus districts in Ohio who are suffering as Logan Elm is under the new state support formula of House Bill 475," Henn said.

The agreement of those district superintendents meeting Wednesday was that giant strides had been taken toward the equalization of education to benefit poorer districts, but further legislative action along these lines, such as proposed House Bill 86, would be considered punitive to those districts having a high tax base.

According to Henn, the 90 odd districts meeting this week feel the state is taking a "Robin Hood" approach to upgrading poorer school systems, by pulling the higher districts down and pushing lower districts up to a common point.

"There is never enough money, even in the wealthier districts," Henn said. "And all the school superintendents meeting Wednesday feel that any future improvements in the foundation formula for state assistance would contain something for districts at both ends of the scale."

In other action, the board discussed the feasibility of erecting a 40 foot by 40 foot pole building to provide additional space for vocational agriculture project at Logan Elm High. The group resolved to take no further action, although there is an urgent need for space, until assurance is received by the Industrial Commission or State Department of Education that such a building would be approved.

A resolution was passed to congratulate McDowell Principal Roger Wolfe on his selection as the Outstanding Young Educator of Pickaway County. The board noted that Wolfe exemplifies the spirit desired in all of their administration and faculty to provide the best possible education for students of the Logan Elm District.

The Logan Elm board asks all newcomers to the district living in Pickaway County to remember the April 9 deadline to register to vote in the primary election. In Hocking County, citizens of the district are not required to register before the election.

Petaín Coffin Back In Tomb

PARIS (AP) — A military plane returned the flag-draped coffin of Marshal Philippe Petaín to his traitor's tomb on a lonely island off the Atlantic Coast today even though it may cost the French government rightist votes in the National Assembly elections next month.

The coffin was found Wednesday night in a garage in a northern suburb of Paris. It had been left there by a group of rightists who stole it from the Ile d'Yeu Sunday, hoping to force the government to bury it in the national military cemetery at Douaumont with the other defenders in the World War I Battle of Verdun.

Police are holding at least six men suspected of complicity in the plot, including Herbert Massol, an ultrarightist candidate for the assembly, and Francois Boux de Cassan, a minister of information in Petaín's Vichy government.

Jacques Iorn, Petaín's lawyer at his treason trial, accused President Georges Pompidou's government of getting the old marshal's remains back by duplicity. He said the government had intimidated Petaínist circles that, when the coffin was found, "it would be placed in a location of honor while the family decided on the location of the grave. It was a deliberately false indication."

Although Petaín was convicted of treason for his collaboration with the Nazis after the French surrender in World War II, the sizable rightist faction has for years demanded that his body be transferred from the island of exile where he died and that he lie among the men he led at Verdun. But a burial with honors for Petaín would antagonize the many Frenchmen for whom the wounds of the Vichy era are still very much open.

In returning the body to the island, the Gaullist government probably chose the lesser evil.

New Hassle Over Pentagon Papers Studied By Judge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The government prosecutor in the Pentagon papers case is scheduled to announce today whether he will follow court orders and give the defendants documents their attorneys say are vital to their case or risk a threatened "sanction" by the judge.

Asst. U.S. Atty. David Nissen refused to turn over on Wednesday a Central Intelligence Agency agent's statement, but he said he would consult with U.S. Justice Department officials overnight and leave the decision to them.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne said that if the documents are not turned over he probably would forbid any evidence on one volume of the papers, a secret study of U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Such a ruling apparently would strike from the record the key government testimony of Gen. William Depuy, who testified about the volume in question. It also would eliminate at least one count of the indictment against Daniel Ellsberg, one of the two defendants.

It was the second time in a month the judge has tangled with Nissen over documents withheld by the government. In a previous ruling, Byrne eliminated one other volume of the papers and virtually eliminated an entire count of the 15-count indictment.

The documents the government refuses to surrender now are statements of CIA agent Samuel A. Adams, who says he has evidence that Depuy testified about "fabricated" statistics in the Pentagon papers regarding the Communist "order of battle" in Vietnam.

Depuy testified the figures quoted could have aided an enemy if released, but Adams says the figures are false, fabricated by the American military.

Ellsberg, 41, and Anthony Russo, 36, are charged with espionage, conspiracy and theft in connection with the leak of the Pentagon study to news media. The government has been seeking to prove such a release could have harmed the national defense.

Community Fund Meets Goal Of $80,818

The Pickaway County Community Fund campaign has again met its goal. The 1972-73 campaign committee received a total of $80,818 in contributions and pledges.

Approximately $1,500 was designated for other county funds. The campaign committee was composed of George Haney, chairman; Dave Schneider, training; Don Thompson, publicity; Carolyn Edstrom, materials; Ron Eitel, treasurer; Jim Baehr, secretary; Vince DeFrank, industry; Bill Smith, special groups; Ken Speakman, business; Dick Wylie, county; Lynne Fisher, city north; and YMCA, advanced gifts.

Industry division exceeded its goal and contributed nearly 80 per cent of the total. The campaign committee and the residents of the county both deserve congratulations on their performance during a period when many funds are experiencing much difficulty.

At the annual meeting of the Community Fund held Tuesday the participating agencies made their annual reports. These reports will be published in the Herald so the county residents can see how much good their money does. Due to the large amount of volunteer help our Community Fund dollars are highly efficient.

The following officers and trustees were elected at the annual meeting: President, George Haney; vice president, Tom Elsea; vice president, Robert Liggett; secretary, Jim Baehr

Monti Sent To Ohio Pen

A husband and wife, each charged with two counts of passing bad checks, appeared in court Wednesday and pled guilty to the charges.

Salvatore Monti was sentenced to two 1 to 20 year terms in the Ohio Penitentiary by Judge Guy Cline. Cline ruled that the terms would run concurrently.

For Sandra Monti, a presentence investigation was ordered before a final decision is made.

Indicated last fall for child stealing, an Arizona resident, Leslie Brown, appeared to enter a guilty plea to the charge here. Cline sentenced Brown to a 5 to 30 year penitentiary term, but suspended that in favor of probation for five years.

Two women charged with the burglary of the Dountz residence in Scioto Twp. entered guilty pleas. Sentencing was delayed for Susan Moore and Holly Vaughn until an investigation of both is completed.

Price Of Gold Shatters Marks On Exchanges

LONDON (AP) — The price of gold hit record highs in Europe for the fourth straight day today jumping $3.63 at the opening in London to an all-time peak of $83 an ounce.

The price of the metal has now soared nearly $15 an ounce here since the U.S. currency was devalued just over a week ago. Normally the gold price changes only a few cents in a week.

Dealers said the main reason for the soaring gold price was continued uncertainty over the value of paper money.

The dollar was weaker in early trading on most European money markets, including London, Zurich, Frankfurt, Paris and Amsterdam, but it strengthened in Tokyo.

Food Additives Really Hidden Time Bombs?

WASHINGTON (AP) — While the food and chemical industry lobbies for softening the law prohibiting cancer-causing substances in food, Congress is divided with some members hoping to make it even more rigid.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., plans to propose again legislation to extend the Delaney Clause to require pre-market testing of most additives to make sure they don't cause birth defects or genetic mutations.

Food and Drug Commissioner Charles C. Edwards says the FDA must be "neutral, and I mean neutral" on Delaney, but he has called publicly for months for a privately funded international symposium drawing together the world's best scientific brains to wrestle with the question.

The Nutrition Foundation and the Food and Drug Law Institute, both industry-oriented and supported, have joined with Consumers Union in gathering pledges to support such a conference later this year.

The plan is to attempt to draft a mathematical formula proving that "safe" amounts of a known carcinogen can be added to food without causing cancer in man.

But leading scientists, including many employed by the government, say such carcinogens can be hidden time bombs that result in cancer 10, 20 or 30 years after exposure.

"In providing a framework for evaluating potential hazards of these additives, the Delaney Clause simply ratifies the prevailing expert opinion in the National Cancer Institute and in other professionally qualified groups that there is no practical method to determine safe dietary levels for a carcinogen," says Dr. Samuel S. Epstein of Case Western Reserve University.

The likely effect of Nelson's bill will be to stall, at least temporarily, industry efforts to modify the current law.

So it will be questions revolving around cancer, the nation's No. 2 health menace, which will bring Delaney to a head.

The Delaney Clause, which bars cancer-causing additives from foods, is very narrow in scope. It applies to fewer than 3,000 additives for which FDA has issued regulations.

It cannot touch the roughly 600 ingredients generally recognized as safe, which themselves are under review for safety, nor the category of prior-sanctioned ingredients approved by either the Agriculture Department or FDA before 1958.

The others could be banned, however, as "poisonous or deleterious" by the FDA under long-standing but unwieldy legal authority.

The chemical industry says the average American consumes about five pounds of synthetic additives a year, and the sales volume of food chemicals is expected to grow from $485 million in 1970 to $750 million by 1980.

Food chemicals are used as stabilizers, preservatives, disinfectants, antioxidants, extenders, tenderizers, emulsifiers, growth promoters, bleaches, sweeteners, colors and flavors, to the advantage of either the processor or the consumer.

"Most additives are purely cosmetic. Many involve outright deceit," contends Ralph Nader's

Farm Tax Break Pushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Senate Ways and Means Committee today recommended for passage a proposed constitutional amendment to give a tax break to farmers in urban areas.

By a 5 to 3 vote, the committee reported out the resolution that would permit agricultural land to be appraised for tax purposes on its current use rather than its market value.

The issue is expected to be on the May ballot.

Under recent court opinions, farmland located near a city or an urban area must be taxed on the basis of market value of land in the area.

Farmers near urban areas or developments contend the court decisions would drive them out of business, especially in areas where neighboring farms have been subdivided or have become sites for high-rise apartments.

Health Research Group in a 28-page booklet distributed recently to congressmen. The message is that Delaney should not be changed.

Opponents of Delaney contend the law prevents the exercise of scientific judgment, should scientists develop the ability to determine a safe or no-effect level of carcinogens in food.

Laurence Wood, president of the Food and Drug Law Institute, said some supporting research is expected to be performed at FDA's National Center for Toxicological Research, a former military facility at Pine Bluff, Ark.

There, government scientists hope to devise tests using thousands upon thousands of animals to determine at what level a carcinogen does not cause cancer in animals.

But before that happens, FDA officials say, a theoretical formula must be worked out to prove it is feasible.

Until a satisfactory solution is found, Commissioner Edwards said, he finds himself in accord with consumer activists.

"At this point in time you could say there is not enough evidence to suggest Delaney should be changed either way," he said.

Concern has been expressed that bans on artificial sweeteners and livestock-growth hormones might affect public health adversely by pricing protein off the table of poor people and boosting consumption of carbohydrates.

Scientists' ability to dream up new tests to detect carcinogens in food has far exceeded their ability to interpret the results, Edwards said.

"If only scientists could say, 'Yes, by God, this is it.' But they can't."

"The total scientific community has got to weigh all the issues involved and help us come up with some kind of a rational judgment on the whole subject of risk-to-benefit, although that's a little crass," he said.

Expanding Opportunities

Some career counselors to young people may not have taken notice of the fact that the best route to a fruitful and happy life does not necessarily lie in four years of college training.

This is difficult for some professional educators to accept, but many have realized the changing requirements of society and the youths whose lives they help shape will be better off for it.

The Carnegie Commission on Higher Education has coined what is becoming a motto in the new look at education: universal access to higher education is a worthy goal, universal attendance is not.

One of the healthier aspects of the new look is the removal of snob appeal from college attendance. There is little question that the image of a college degree held much greater appeal for many who attended college in the fifties and sixties than any preparation for life they might glean from it.

Now the pendulum is swinging back. A surplus of teachers and some other professionals and a growing shortage of mechanics, nurses, repairmen of many varieties and other trades people have changed priorities.

Rather than a retrenchment in education, what is happening is an expansion of opportunities. That is accepted by many to mean that tomorrow's members of the labor force will be making a greater contribution to society and happier doing it.

Let 'Em Eat Crow

By JEFFREY HART

Senator Barry Goldwater is circulating a White Paper on Vietnam that has all the earmarks of a White House production. And who can blame the boys on the White House staff for having a good laugh at the expense of their critics in the media and in Congress, who for months have been loudly denying that President Nixon's policies could succeed in Vietnam?

The White House is good at filing away quotations, and letting them ripen until the appropriate moment. Sen. George McGovern found that out last summer, to his acute embarrassment. Now James Reston, Tom Wicker, Anthony Lewis, Teddy, the liberal editorialists and so on can take their turn under the duncecap. It is good to have these gems rescued from the forgettability of last month's newspapers. A few samples, on the bombing of the North:

"The American bombs falling on North Vietnam have dimmed prospects not only for peace in Indochina but for the wider detente for which all mankind has prayed." (New York Times editorial, December 30, 1972) Wrong on both counts, boys. And since when is the Times getting so religious?

The "President — by imperial fiat — has placed the nation in hazard of the gravest confrontation with the Soviets since the Cuban missile crisis of 1962... this is failure on a grand scale." (Tom Wicker, May 12, 1972) Evidently the Soviets didn't see it that way. They kept the champagne cold.

"... why should bombing a people make them want to deal in good faith?" (Tom Wicker again, Dec. 26, 1972) If he wants to know, maybe he should ask Le Duc Tho or Xuan Thuy.

"This (the bombing) is war by tantrum, and it is worse than the Cambodian and Laotian invasions." (James Reston, Dec. 27, 1972) A statement he did not retract when the cease-fire agreement was reached shortly thereafter.

"(Nixon and Henry Kissinger)... have no options except more of the destruction that everyone knows is morally outrageous and politically useless." (Anthony Lewis, April 10, 1972) The North Vietnamese should have read Lewis. Then they would have known that the mining and bombing were politically useless, and would have fought on. Ignorantly, they signed.

"He has conducted a bombing policy... so ruthless and so difficult to fathom politically as to cause millions of Americans to cringe in shame and to wonder at their President's very sanity." (Washington Post editorial, Jan. 7, 1973) The Hanoi politburo didn't find the bombing difficult to fathom politically.

"Over and over again Mr. Nixon has tried to bomb Hanoi into submission. It has not worked before and it will not work today." (St. Louis Post-Dispatch editorial, Dec. 19, 1972) Well, it might not have worked on that day, but it seems to have worked on another one.

On the mining decision last spring, some of the quotations are beautiful: "Certainly the Moscow summit meeting, from which so much had been expected, is now in jeopardy." (Charles Collingwood) "One casualty of the President's mining and blockade may well be his upcoming summit in Moscow." (Marvin Kalb) "I would suspect that the summit will not come off." (Eric Sevareid) "The summit is in jeopardy today." (John Chancellor) A "blockade of Haiphong... would almost certainly bring an immediate cancellation of the Nixon visit." (Newsweek) "It is a senseless act of military desperation by a President incapable of finding the road to peace." (Ted Kennedy) "We cannot read about the heavy bombing... without a deep and despairing sense that peace is not at hand." (Chappaquiddick's most famous motorist)

I guess my favorite is this example of Eric Sevareid's military expertise last May 4: "It is no longer a question of repelling the Hanoi general offensive, but of holding it. On present evidence, there is no prospect of driving them out of the provinces they have taken..."

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Whether advertising and marketing create tastes or merely reflect those that exist is a moot point that probably never can be resolved in a simple answer.

But there is no question whatever that advertising is sensitive to values and tastes, that advertisers are among the sharper observers of social change, and that in search of success they exploit their findings.

If you can recall some of the ads seen in the past few years, you most likely will be able to discover these underlying assumptions:

1. The emergence of the largest middle class in history, with "typical" middle-class values, including a commitment to familism, or the home, children and clear sex roles.

2. A belief in upward mobility, or the American dream of success.

3. A commitment to the Puritan or Protestant ethic as the means to achieve mobility: conformity, the work ethic, focus on the future and the virtue of self-denial.

Responding to this interpretation, advertisers made marriage and the family a major focus and goal, assumed that personal denial for the sake of the family was correct and made togetherness an ideal.

This, in part, is the analysis presented to a meeting this week of the Association of National Advertisers by Florence Skelly, executive vice president of Daniel Yankelovich, Inc., a marketing and opinion research firm.

But now, said Miss Skelly, whose company conducts an ongoing study of social change, a new climate may be emerging that eventually will bring into question some assumptions made by the ad people.

Although none of the changes are as yet universal, she said, some tendencies in values and life styles already are substantial and growing. Among them:

1. A change in the nature of familism, marked by female careerism, a blurring of the sexes, a challenge to the traditional linkage between masculinity and being a good provider and a new attitude about children.

2. A significant shift in what constitutes success and how one signals these achievements to others. Status symbols are changing. More people will be concerned with life quality rather than economic condition alone.

3. A new climate of pessimism about the American dream in general, although not necessarily about one's personal chances for happiness. There is skepticism about business as an institution, for example.

As a result, Miss Skelly concludes that ad-men probably can rely less on their intuitive sense of how America lives and what is important. Some assumptions must be examined "case by case, brand by brand," she said.

Among them:

1. Women want to get a husband and then be super homemakers, wives and mothers.

2. People want to settle down, establish roots.

3. Superior performance ultimately is the most compelling support for a product irrespective of other factors.

4. Visible displays of climbing the ladder to success are important purchase motives.

5. Fear of criticism by others is a powerful purchase motive.

Looking over the list one wonders: Is it possible that people are rebelling against some of the assumptions made by advertisers seeking to sell them goods? Should that be the case, the question is answered — advertising does create tastes.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

What is the London flu that everyone seems to be talking about?

How does it differ from other "flus"? Mrs. L.T., Del.

Dear Mrs. T.:

There are distinct technical differences in viruses.

There are probably 300 or more various viruses that may affect and infect man. Many of these have been recognized and identified.

The viruses that cause polio, smallpox, chickenpox, mumps, measles, and influenza are responsible for a group of physical symptoms that identify each disease.

However, the fine distinctions between the London flu, the Hong Kong flu and an ordinary gripe or common cold are not always easy to classify. Common to all of these might be the runny nose, the general feeling of aching, fever, congestion in the chest, sore throat, cough, and tremendous sense of weakness.

The sudden outbreak of acute infections in London has pin-pointed attention to a viral infection which now bears its name. It would take the most complicated studies with electronic microscopes to distinguish one virus from another. The name is not nearly so important as the care that should be given early to people who are sick.

It must be remembered that when the first symptoms of a cold or flu appear, the virus has probably been incubating for three or four days. It is important, therefore, that when people feel "a cold is coming on," treatment should be started at that time.

Rest, fluids, modified diet are important. Rest is probably the most important part of the early treatment.

I never have been able to learn how to swallow a pill. I struggle so hard with it that sometimes I decide to forget about the pill.

Are there any tricks of the trade that you can let us in on?

Mr. J.R.E., Okla.

Dear Mr. E.:

I have watched patients strain, struggle and use all sorts of neck gyrations to swallow a small pill. These same people can swallow a piece of steak half an inch square without the slightest difficulty.

I just believe that most people work too energetically at doing a simple thing.

I came across an excellent suggestion made by Dr. William B. Robey of Phoenix, Arizona. He tells his patient to take a sip of water and hold it in his mouth. Then, tilt the head back as though to gargle, and drop the pill on top of the water. Then he has him take another sip of water and swallow all of it.

Apparently, this old technique is an excellent one for problem pill-takers. Why don't you try it?

By HAL BOYLE

POINT REYES, Calif. (AP) — Prodded by high beef prices, cattle rustling — that classic scourge of the Old West — is experiencing a modern day resurgence, authorities say.

Here in rural Marin County north of San Francisco, where Joaquin Murieta and "Three-fingered Jack" plundered Spanish ranchos some 150 years ago, rustlers reportedly stole up to 60 beef and dairy cattle in the last six months of 1972.

Nine thefts have been reported so far this year.

"Some of the thefts are apparently part of a commercial operation and others are just to put meat on the table," said Marin Sheriff's Lt. William Johansen.

"In either case meat prices seem to be the basic root of it," Johansen said. Rancher Boyd Steward put up a $1,000 reward after rustlers slaughtered two 1,600-pound Black Angus in his pasture.

"They butchered them right there and took them away in halves," Steward said.

Besides ending up in the rustler's own freezer, some stolen cattle apparently go to wholesale dealers who in turn sell to bulk meat retailers for marketing to the public, Sheriff Johansen said.

Others may be sold from roadside truck stands or turn up on the auction block in neighboring counties, he said.

However, "there's little likelihood you'd ever find one in your local supermarket," Johansen said. "They have too many controls."

Thus far there have been no arrests in Marin County but last August a man was sentenced to a 1-to-15-year term for cattle rustling in Alameda County, about 50 miles southeast of here.

In that county's first rustling trial in 12 years, Robert L. Sweeden, 30, of San Leandro, was convicted of stealing a 200-pound feeder calf from an area rancher.

Marin cattle owners say their ranches are particularly vulnerable because many are close to heavily traveled roads.

"You couldn't get within a hundred yards of the cattle back on the hills," said Steward, adding that cattle more used to human contact "are so gentle you could walk right up to them and hit them with a hammer."

Another problem, said Johansen, is the rustlers are "getting more proficient all the time. It's just like burglary, only the evidence disappears a lot quicker."

Johansen believes a uniform branding system might help curtail rustling.

"We had three suspects caught with a stolen, butchered animal," he said. "But we couldn't prove anything, because we couldn't identify it."

File Suit For Abortion Clinic Setup

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A group which says it has been involved in flying pregnant women to New York for abortions has filed suit here to bar local officials from interfering with plans for abortion clinics.

Joseph M. Blaine, spokesman for the group, known as Choice, said it will set up an abortion clinic if local physicians do not. He said he owns Aeromedic, an air service which flies pregnant women to New York and also ferries other medical patients.

Blaine is also a member of the National Association for Repeal of Abortion Laws (NARAL).

"It is not our intention to set up and operate abortion clinics," said Blaine. "But we will if we have to."

The group filed its suit Tuesday.

Hamilton County Common Pleas Judge Gilbert Bettman set a hearing on the suit for 2 p.m. Thursday.

The suit, filed on behalf of three Cincinnati area women seeks to enjoin Hamilton County Prosecutor Simon Leis Jr., Sheriff Paul Frikker and Cincinnati Police Chief Carl Goodin from interfering with their plans for abortions.

Personal Property Tax Returns Are Due By April 30

All persons engaged in business on Dec. 31, 1972, including manufacturers, merchants, contractors, physicians, dentists, attorneys and accountants are required to file personal property tax returns with their county auditor on or before April 30, 1973, reminds Maxine Wilson, deputy auditor.

Mrs. Wilson advises that these businessmen and women must report all inventories, supplies, equipment, fixtures and machinery used in their business.

Every person who rents furnished rooms or furnished apartments must file a personal property tax return, listing the furniture, fixtures and equipment included in rental facilities.

The deputy auditor also reminds Pickaway County residents that any citizen of Ohio owning investments, such as shares of stock, corporate bonds, municipal bonds, mortgage notes, or land contracts, are required to file personal property tax returns as such property is taxable whether or not used in business.

All personal property taxes paid to County Treasurer Bob Woods are used here for the support of schools, libraries, health, police and fire services.

Tax blanks and assistance in the preparation of the return may be obtained at the county auditor's office in the courthouse. There are penalties in addition to the tax for anyone failing to file a return within the time prescribed.

'Neverdie' Religion Has Niche In Appalachia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — "You may not believe this, but I've been here five times before," said the Rev. Henry Holstine.

"I know that because one night I was studying this scripture so hard I went right out my natural thinking and God took hold of my arm and lifted me up."

"He opened up the earth, just like if you took a shovel and dug a hole, and I saw five bodies laying on top of the ground," he explained, staring down at five imaginary corpses of his past lives stretched out shoulder to shoulder on the linoleum.

"Then He asked what I was gonna do with the body I'm in now. Was I gonna make the mark or was I gonna go to where they are?"

As a lay minister in the Church of the Living, the Rev. Henry Holstine speaks often of his revelation, the night when all the incongruent pieces fit together.

Vision and revelation are important elements in the search for truth among members of this religious sect, a splinter group of the Perfectionist Holiness movement which took the Appalachian states by storm early in the 19th Century.

The "Neverdies," as they are called by other Holiness people, believe in immortality not only of the soul, but also of the body. The soul returns to earth in a series of reincarnations, they say, until the believer succeeds in living the perfect life. At that point, his body can live forever.

There are probably hundreds of mountain people living in West Virginia and surrounding states who are members of the rather loosely-knit "Neverdie" Church. Occasionally names such as "Everlasting Gospel Tabernacle" or "Church of the Living" are painted in whitewash over the door, but more often the meeting spot is identified by the names of an individual, usually a key overseer.

Members are reminded that Enoch, first of the "Neverdies," was "translated that he should not see death," and often discuss what they call the "adoption" of the body by God.

A dominant theme which serves as the backbone of "Neverdie" law is that man has the capability of eternal life on earth. If he "doesn't make the mark" and dies, they say, his spirit returns in a new body at some future date. These cycles continue until the individual has succeeded in living the pure life.

"Even natural history says the word repeats itself," said Rev. Holstine. "If that's true, the scriptures teach that man goes in and out and what was first shall be last and what was last shall be first."

The "Neverdie" Church provides a

School Subsidy

Money Received

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson reported today that a net total of $163,526.24 was distributed in February to Pickaway County's four school districts.

School foundation money from the state is sent to the auditor's office. In turn the auditor redistributes the funds to the proper districts.

District allotments are:

Circleville City, $56,071.92; Logan Elm Local, $32,310.31; Teays Valley Local, $39,813.61; Westfall Local, $35,366.40.

An allotment to the county board of education amounted to $4,105.16.

curious link between the Christianity of fundamentalist mountain people and the religions of the East.

Like the Buddhist and the Hindu, the "Neverdie" believes the spirit returns to earth in a series of reincarnations.

The "Church of the Living" is the product of the great Kentucky revival of 1800 to 1803 which rekindled the fundamentalistic, sectarian and experimental zeal of European religious dissent.

The belief in bodily immortality, an extreme threat in the fabric of the Pentecostal Church, distinguishes the "Neverdie" from other Holiness people.

Members of the "Church of the Living" in Chandler Hollow say one of the first persons to teach the belief was Ted Oiler, a massive 67-year-old ex-coal miner who still travels a preaching circuit through West Virginia, Virginia and North Carolina.

Rudiments of "Neverdie" law can be traced to a mysterious lay preacher from Belleville, Ohio, named Levi Dowling, who wrote the "Aquarian Gospel."

Rev. Holstine agrees that the teachings of the Appalachian "Neverdie" church are unconventional and generally disbelieved by outsiders, but adds that if necessary he will be back on earth again to see that it all comes true.

Miss Shelly Petuja Is Bride Of William Patrick Cain

The marriage of Miss Shelly Petuja and Mr. William Patrick Cain was solemnized 4:30 p.m., Feb. 10th in the St. Cyril and Methodius Church of Warren, Ohio.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Msgr. Joseph Krupinsky before the altar decorated with gold vases filled with red carnations and white gladioli. Gold candelabra also enhanced the altar and white satin bows marked the pews.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Petuja, Warren, Ohio and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cain, St. Paris, Ohio.

Organist and soloist was Mary David who sang "Now Joined By God," "Brides Prayer," "Ave Marie" and "These Two."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of banlon lace in the Victorian design. The molded, natural waistline bodice, had long full bishop sleeves and the A-line skirt with a soft fullness flowed into a chapel length train. Her crown was attached to a Camelot cap with a cathedral length mantilla edged in lace. She carried a bouquet of mixed red and white flowers.

Mrs. Linda Albert, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of tea rose chiffon made with an A-line skirt. The bodice featured a round cowl collar which formed shoulder sleeves. Ribbons of white and tea rose tapestry formed the bustline tying in a bow in back and flowing into streamers down the skirt.

Other attendants were Miss Tina Rechedy, Miss Denise Plumm, Miss Frances Ramano and Miss Cindy Cain, sister of the groom. Flower girl was Tina Petuja. All were dressed identically to the matron of honor. The attendants carried bouquets of mixed flowers. Their headpieces were tea rose bands of velvet overlaid with matching net.

Serving as best man was Mr. James Cain, brother of the groom. Ushers were Mr. Ralph Cain Jr., cousin of the groom; Mr. John Petuja, brother of the bride; Mr. Robert Faulkner and Mr. Joe Dovel of St. Paris. Altar boys were Ronnie Petuja and Danny Petula.

The couple left for the Bahamas for a brief honeymoon before returning to their home at 100 S. Main St., New Carlisle, Ohio. The bride chose for her going-away costume a white pant suit with navy blue accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Harang School and was employed at the hospital in Warren. The groom graduated from Graham High School in St. Paris and Northwood Institute of Dallas, Texas. He now owns and operates Pat's White Villa Grocery of New Carlisle.

A dinner reception was held at the Pompeii Room in Warren for approximately 300 guests. The bride's mother received guests in a mint green floor length gown of crepe accented with silver accessories. She wore a corsage of white roses. The groom's mother greeted guests in a pastel rainbow chiffon floor length gown with pink accessories and a pink rose corsage. The grandmothers of the couple, Mrs. Mary Petuja of Warren and Mrs. Hazel Mowery of Circleville had corsages of white carnations.

Out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Wickham, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Massie, Damon Gladman, Phil Baker, Miss Patty Dunton and Miss Roxanne Tussey, all of St. Paris; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Walpole of Grove City, Mrs. Ruth Wells and Mrs. Hazel Mowery of Circleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Reynolds of Chillicothe.

How To Get Rid Of A Lazy 'Elephant'

DEAR ABBY: How can parents get rid of a fat, 20-year-old daughter who refuses to look for a job? She says that we gave birth to her for reasons of our own, so we can keep her for the rest of her life.

Eating, sleeping, reading, listening to the radio and doing volunteer work at the local animal shelter, and urging her little brother to hang himself, is all that she has done since graduating from high school 2½ years ago.

Her skill with animals has brought her many good job offers from veterinarians, but she says she refuses to work for money as long as her brother is alive, as she fiercely resents not being an only child.

The police say they cannot help us because she is neither a criminal nor a lunatic. Two doctors have told us they cannot help us because they can't find anything "wrong" with her. So where do we go from here? We aren't millionaires, and we're fed up with...

FEEDING AN ELEPHANT

DEAR FEEDING: Go to another doctor! This time find a competent psychiatrist. You certainly have enough clues to conclude that the girl has serious emotional problems. She desperately needs help in getting her head together. And the cost will be "peanuts" compared with feeding an elephant.

DEAR ABBY: I am in the Marine Corps, stationed in Nam Phong, Thailand. There is no female personnel

NUDE IN NAM PHONG

DEAR NUDE: If HE has one, why are YOU writing?

DEAR ABBY: Can you get VD from kissing somebody? If you can, maybe I've had it for a year and have already given it to three people.

I didn't even know about this disease until six months ago, and the kid I think might have given it to me moved out of town a year ago.

I am so worried. I am only 15, and I'm not a slut or anything like that. Please don't tell me to talk to my parents. They would never understand. Also our family doctor is a good friend of theirs, so I can't go to him.

I have to know right away, Abby, as my grades are falling off because I'm worried instead of studying. Thank you, and hurry your answer, please.

WORRIED SICK

DEAR WORRIED: The chances of contracting VD from kissing are very very slim, but if you have gone in for heavy petting, you could be in trouble. Call you Department of Public health. Tell them I suggested that you call, and ask for a physical examination to ease your mind. You do not need your parents' consent, and if you need treatment, you'll receive it on a confidential and free basis. Please do this today, and good luck.

DEAR ABBY: How long should a couple wait to get married following a divorce? I have been divorced for three years, but the man I am going to marry has been divorced only a few months. We have known each other for a very long time and are both over forty. I am not talking about the time it is considered "legal" to get married again, I mean how long should we wait to avoid gossip?

FLORDIAN

DEAR FLORDIAN: Go ahead and marry the man and don't worry about gossip. After all, a divorce isn't the same as a death. There is no "mourning" period when one loses a mate in the divorce court.

House Secretary Has Parking Woe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The new executive secretary of the Ohio House — commander of its 134 employees — has the same workaday problem facing a lot of big city mayors—parking.

He has to fit the automobiles of 99 House members into 70-odd spaces in the House parking lot alongside the statehouse.

"It's a real headache," said 38-year-old John "Jack" McCarthy, who used to represent Youngstown's 81st House district.

McCarthy succeeded to the $21,000-a-year job with the 110th General Assembly, in which the House is dominated by the Democrats.

McCarthy doesn't have to worry about parking for his employees, but he does have to answer complaints from House members about the staff. Even Republican secretary help comes under his authority.

But, House members must share their 70-odd parking spaces in the lot with four cars each from the offices of the attorney general, treasurer and auditor.

Although the problem hasn't been solved, McCarthy hopes it can be eased by reminding the Underground Parking Commission that it is required by law to save spaces for legislators. The parking complex is located under the statehouse.

At least one problem has been virtually whipped. Most of the task of moving — because Democrats took control of the House for the first time since 1959 — is completed.

"The physical moving was a real pain," said McCarthy. "Getting typewriters and everything to the right place across the hall has now been accomplished."

"Everybody seems to be settled down."

McCarthy must oversee the spending of a $5 million budget, which includes the payroll for House members and staff. Still, said McCarthy, it's the "little detail work that takes my time."

All printing and purchasing for House lawmakers come under McCarthy's office. Other officers, such as the clerk and sergeant-at-arms, work under his direction.

McCarthy spent two terms on the Youngstown City Council before going to the House for two two-year stints. He dropped out to seek a county office, but lost in a primary race.

McCarthy is a graduate of Rand High School. He attended Youngstown State University. He was a midwest sales manager for a fence company before taking over direction of the House staff.

He is married and father of six children ranging in age from 6 to 16. And, the parking problem extends over to his private life. He's looking for a place in Columbus to house them.

OU Seminar Hears Woman Army General

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The armed services aren't waiting around for passage of the Equal Rights Amendment to take steps to eradicate discrimination against women, the Army's highest ranking woman said Wednesday.

Brig. Gen. Mildred Bailey told an Ohio University audience the military is responding to pressure from women and governmental groups to change some of its practices she considers discriminatory.

Included in these practices she said are age requirements, benefits after marriage, and base housing facilities. In the past six months, Gen. Bailey said the number of military occupational specialties open to women has jumped to 90 per cent of total non-combat occupations. Six weeks ago an Army regulation was changed to permit a woman officer to command any non-combat unit, she said.

But, Gen. Bailey said the armed forces would react "very violently" if ordered to fill a certain percentage of its positions with women.

"Setting quotas would be considered unfair," she said. "If an officer is given a responsibility to carry out, he should also be given the proper tools."

Gen. Bailey said the Army would make a decision within the next month on whether to expand Army ROTC programs for women nationally. Ten schools started the program in the fall.

Gen. Bailey spoke at part of a week-long seminar at OU on the changing role of women in the U.S. today.

Band Instruments Stolen Again

At Middletown

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Sing Out Middletown, a young people's musical group was robbed of $3,000 worth of musical instruments in November, 1971.

The instruments were replaced over the next 18 months by the members who conducted fund raising projects. Tuesday, their new instruments were stolen from the Optimist Hall.

"We just got out of debt," said director Don Bowles. "The kids accepted it, because it was not as shocking as the first time. There was not much reaction left." He believed they were insured this time.

Park Development Approved By Agency

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Development of parks in Steubenville, Bloomingdale and other Jefferson County communities has been approved by the U.S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

Ohio Natural Resources Director William Nye said Wednesday that half the $37,783 cost of the projects will be provided by the federal government, and half from local funds.

Cockpit Fire Crash Cause

ALAMEDA NAVAL AIR STATION, Calif. (AP) — A cockpit fire broke out in an A7 Corsair jet before it smashed into an apartment complex at nearby Alameda Feb. 7, a Navy board of inquiry has been told.

The fire occurred "very near" the oxygen mask of the pilot, Navy Lt. Robert Ward, metallurgist Charles F. Choa told the hearing Tuesday.

Ward, 28, of Cary, N.C., was among the 10 who died. Four persons still are listed as missing.

Pieces of the oxygen hose, a spiral spring in the hose and a section of Ward's survival jacket, retrieved from the wreckage, all show evidence of fire inside, Choa said. He said the evidence indicates they were aflame before the plane began its dive from 28,000 feet into the apartment building.

Navy surgeon Dr. Richard Joseph testified the pilot would have become incapacitated "within a matter of seconds" if he was wearing the mask at the time the oxygen caught fire.

Ice Cutter Warning

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Coast Guard has warned fishermen, snowmobilers and others on the western Lake Erie shore that an ice cutter will be in the area Thursday and Friday and its tracks could create dangerous conditions on the ice.

Nostalgia Hits Campuses, Entertainment Agents Find

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Monster movies, conservative speakers and classical or blues music apparently are "in" on college campuses this year. Radicals and rock are on the wane.

Such is the message being generated by the National Entertainment Conference, a noisy four-day gathering of agents and collegians to arrange bookings for talent on campus.

Students and campus talent coordinators from throughout the nation are here. Some are working with budgets of more than $290,000 a year, others with as little as $4,000.

Agents report a brisk business in the talent market, and they add that a couple of significant trends are showing.

First, they say, the blues or even the classics are more likely to be heard than "hard rock" when collegians gather these days.

Secondly, radical speakers ace out on campus, at least, and conservatives are in.

"It goes along with the mood of the country, a general lifting of the spirit of things," said one agent.

There's a "monster booth" where collegians can arrange for campus viewings of vintage horror films.

And there is an agent ready to sign a contract to bring a full three-ring circus to campus.

"There seems to be a swing toward cultural things," said Lucy Lapage of Royce Carlton, Inc., a New York firm.

"More campuses are looking to speakers and artists to stay around for gatherings and personal contacts after their presentations," she says.

Eugene Remels, representing

United Films, distributor of horror movies and film classics, says collegians are "turned on to a nostalgia thing."

"In the past few years, nostalgia has gone big in all areas," he said, leafing through a promotional brochure entitled "Fifty Years of Devils, Demons and Monsters."

"One of our popular items is the original series of 12 Sherlock Holmes films, with Basil Rathbone," he said.

Mystery Of Lost Americans In Indochina Publicized

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Inside the newspaper graced with the happy front-page headlines that more prisoners of war had been released was an advertisement.

"WHERE ARE OUR MIAS?" it asked.

The full-page ad is one of those being taken out in 150-200 newspapers across the nation by POW-MIA organizations. An MIA is one of 1,363 military men and 30-45 civilians listed by the organizations as missing in action in Indochina.

The ad pictures Lt. Ron Dodge, a Navy pilot shot down May 17, 1967. A photograph by a Dutch photographer showing Dodge being paraded through the streets of Hanoi appeared in Paris Match magazine in September 1967, the ad says.

Dodge's name did not appear on Hanoi's list of POWs held in North Vietnam, South Vietnam or Laos.

The Pentagon says there are 1,328 U.S. military men missing in action or unaccounted for in Indochina, while the State Department lists an additional 24 civilian MIAs.

Voices in Vital America (VIVA) best-known for its worldwide distribution of five million bracelets bearing the names of POWs and MIAs, says it is coordinating the ads. It calls on its bracelet-wearers and other Americans to protest the Communists' alleged failure to account for all Americans they captured.

It says one way to do this is to demand of Congress that not one penny be spent on rebuilding North Vietnam until all MIAs are accounted for.

VIVA is also asking all bracelet wearers to continue wearing them at least until all American POWs are released.

"We are urging people to continue wearing their bracelets to help alert others that the issue has not yet been resolved satisfactorily," said Mrs. Douglas Coppin, chairman of VIVA's National Advisory Board.

The MIA families are particularly disappointed about the accounting of POWs in Laos. Of 317 men carried as MIAs in Laos, only seven were listed by Hanoi as prisoners.

"We know with modern ejection methods there is a great chance of pilot and crew survival when a plane goes down. This figure of seven men is ludicrous," Mrs. Coppin said.

She said 56 men previously believed by the U.S. government to be POWs were not accounted for by Hanoi. She said another 11 MIAs were reported dead, while 46 MIAs were named on the POW list.

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Another in a series of cold fronts was headed for Ohio today as one whisked across the state Wednesday bringing widespread but small amounts of precipitation.

"Generally quite light" was the way the National Weather Service reported the precipitation, and only the northern sections of Ohio had measurable snowfall. Additional snowfall of around two inches was recorded at the Cleveland Hopkins Airport and Youngstown and an inch at Toledo and Canton-Akron.

After high temperatures that occurred mainly during the morning, ranging from 32 at Youngstown to 40 along the Ohio River, readings dropped into the teens and low 20s early Thursday.

The new low pressure area and associated cold front was near Lake Winnipeg in Canada this morning and will be dropping rapidly southeastward and passing across Ohio late tonight or Friday.

Snow flurries Thursday morning will be of little consequence, the Weather Service said, but will increase in the northern portions of the state late this afternoon and tonight. High temperatures today are forecast in the 20s and low 30s and lows tonight in the teens and low 20s. Blustery winds appear likely through Friday.

Scio Pottery Co.

Owes Gas Penalty

SCIO, Ohio (AP) — The Scio Pottery Co. owes Columbia Gas of Ohio a $60,000 penalty and must close for about 10 days because it exceeded its winter gas allotment.

Company vice President Richard Reese said the firm went over its allotment by six million cubic feet of natural gas for the period between November and March. Its contract with Columbia calls for a $10 penalty for every 1,000 cubic feet over the limit.

Water Pollution Law Proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan announced Wednesday the introduction of legislation to strengthen Ohio's water pollution laws to comply with federal pollution laws.

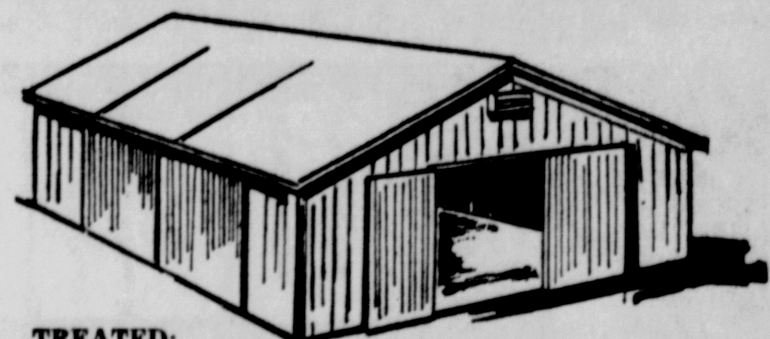

According to the bill, pollution would be redefined as "the placing of any substance into state waters or sewerage systems" rather than just substances "which have harmful effects."

Ohio could also set up "pre-treatment" standards and all present exemptions to the state's water pollution control permit system would be removed.

Sneek-A-Peek AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

A child's first experience with books can be very rewarding, both for him and for his parents. Many children become interested in picture books at an early age, and will sit and look at the pictures for a long time. Other children prefer to find out how the book tastes, or whether it will bounce. Whatever his first reaction to books, every child eventually becomes interested in the prospect of learning to read. This usually begins when the child is around five or six years old, although it often occurs at a much younger age. When you child first shows an interest in sounding out words, it is time to encourage his reading ability.

U.S. Asks Speedy Release Of 140 More Americans

SAIGON (AP) — The United States Wednesday asked North Vietnam and the Viet Cong to release 140 more American prisoners of war before next Tuesday, U.S. officials reported after a meeting of the Joint Military Commission's subcommittee on captured persons.

"They said they would take our request to their authorities," one American official said. "The date, time and arrangements are to be worked out."

The Communists freed 143 American military and civilian personnel on Feb. 12, and Hanoi released another 20 Feb. 18 as a gesture of appreciation for the visit of U.S. presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger. The Communist side now holds 422 Americans in North and South Vietnam and Laos.

Kissinger said after the signing of the cease-fire agreement that he expected the POWs to be freed in four groups of about the same size, with one group handed over about every 15 days. Under this timetable, the next delivery date would be Tuesday.

Another question to be resolved, U.S. officials said, is whether the 20 men freed last Sunday will be considered an advance contingent for the second group or whether they will be considered a separate, special group.

The Saigon government had proposed that the second phase of Vietnamese POW releases begin Thursday. Instead, the Communists raised the question of detained civilian personnel, U.S. sources said. They said it would be impossible now to get the second increment going Thursday.

The International Commission of Control and Supervision began sending field teams to 14 of 26 subregional sites across South Vietnam without waiting for full teams of the Joint Military Commission to be in place. The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have delayed getting their representatives to the field, stalling joint efforts to reduce hostilities.

The Saigon government reported that violations of the cease-fire increased again today, and Premier Pham Van Dong of North Vietnam accused the United States and the Saigon government of sabotaging the truce agreement.

OSU Budget Cut, Gilligan Rapped

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University President Harold L. Enarson Wednesday announced school budget cutbacks of 5.5 to 8 per cent.

At the same time, he renewed his criticism of Gov. John Gilligan's subsidy proposals for higher education contained in the budget for the next biennium.

Termining the cutbacks "severe," Enarson said "the level of subsidy support being recommended to the Ohio General Assembly by the governor is inadequate to sustain current commitments."

Lukens, Rhodes Seek Court Rule

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court Friday will have before it a second case from a would-be gubernatorial candidate which seeks to have his rejection by Secretary of State Ted Brown declared unconstitutional.

The latest suit is by State Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, whose gubernatorial petitions were rejected by Brown Wednesday.

In an anticipated gesture, Brown refused Lukens' petitions and $50 filing fee on grounds the Butler County Board of Elections ruled the candidate was delinquent in filing his personal expense account for his 1972 state senate campaign.

Ohio law says candidates who do not file within 45 days after election cannot seek public office for five years.

Lukens' attempt to submit the petitions was a prelude to his intentions to force a court decision in the case, alongside a similar court action pending on behalf of former Gov. James Rhodes.

Gubernatorial petitions submitted by Rhodes were also rejected by Brown, but for a different reason.

Brown contended there is still a constitutional question about whether a governor who has served two, four-year terms, is eligible for a third term. Ohio law says a governor may not serve more than two consecutive terms, but is unclear whether this means two terms, period.

Both suits challenge Brown on the grounds that his action deprives two qualified candidates from seeking public office.

POWs Get Look At Pay Records

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Besides family and friends, returning Vietnam POWs might also have a "sizeable chunk" of back pay awaiting them when they get home.

An officer at Wright-Patterson Air Force base said Wednesday some of the former prisoners of war have "salted away as much as $100,000" in back compensation.

Ugandan President Gives Hotel To 'Deserving Man'

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — It was a slow, sunny day in Kampala, the kind of day when Ugandans doze under banana palms oblivious to their government's directives against mini-skirts and gun-carrying imperialist agents posing as Christian missionaries.

President Idi Amin was about to give away a hotel but he hadn't decided to whom. The man who expelled 40,000 Asians from his country has been masterminding the distribution of perhaps $400 million worth of Asian property to black Ugandans. The distribution of some 3,500 abandoned businesses is nearly complete.

Gen. Amin, driving his own Jeep through downtown Kampala, decided to intervene personally in the allocation of the Speke Hotel, named after an early explorer. It was worth $125,000 in the busy days before Amin banned tourists.

According to witnesses, Amin spoke extemporaneously in English and Swahili to a large group of applicants. He paused and surveyed the crowd as if making up his mind. Suddenly he pointed to a Lt. Col. Bogere and said:

Southwest Hit By Rain, Heavy Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flooding, isolated heavy rains and some heavy snowfalls hit the Southwest today, but most of the nation had clear skies and chilly temperatures.

Warm rain falling over snowpacked areas brought flooding to the streets of cities in southern Arizona along with minor flooding of streams and washes.

A flood watch was posted for the central basin of Arizona and a heavy-snow warning for the mountains of New Mexico and southeastern Colorado.

Most of the precipitation in the Southwest was light. However, some heavy rains hit southwest Texas as well as southern Arizona.

Snow dusted areas around the Great Lakes and east through the Ohio Valley and northern and Central Appalachians to the Atlantic. Some areas had as much as an inch of snow.

Heavy-snow warnings were in effect for the central and southern part of West Virginia, and travelers advisories were issued for the mountains of Maryland.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 4 at Rawlins, Wyo., to 60 at Key West, Fla.

Liza Minelli Given Free Parade Ride

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Chauffered in a 1940 Lincoln convertible, Liza Minelli rode through the Harvard University campus, trailed by antique fire engines.

It was all part of a campus carnival Tuesday sponsored by the Hasty Pudding Theatricals, who had earlier named the star of "Cabaret" as their "Woman of the Year."

Glynis Johns Admitted To New York Hospital

NEW YORK (AP) — British actress Glynis Johns has been admitted to a New York hospital, forcing postponement of a Broadway opening.

Her press agent said Miss Johns complained of a "great pain" at her Manhattan apartment Tuesday morning. The nature of the illness was not disclosed.

"Depending on how thrifty they were and the size of their families, the men could have a sizeable chunk of money," said Lt. Col. Nick Apple, base information officer.

The five freed men undergoing reorientation at the Dayton base spent most of Wednesday checking their personnel and financial records, receiving medical examinations and intelligence debriefings.

"There's a responsible man who should have this hotel."

Witnesses said Bogere, chief army medical officer and one of the few in the audience who had not been brandishing blue and white forms applying for the Speke, looked around as if to say: Who, Me?

Amin beckoned the surprised Bogere forward and shook his hand. Then the president noticed two white non-Ugandans standing nearby.

"Who are you?" Amin asked.

"We are guests at the hotel," one replied nervously.

"Well, come here and meet your new manager," Amin said, motioning them toward Bogere. The crowd grinned at Amin's pointed demonstration of the officer's new status as hotelkeeper.

One of the men, Capt. Edward J. Mechenbier, 30, of Dayton, reportedly received dental care and was fitted for eye glasses.

Mechenbier and Maj. Donald L. Heiliger, 36, of Madison, Wis., arrived early Wednesday aboard a C-9 medical transport.

Three others, Col. Ronald E. Byrne Jr., 43, of Peru, Ind.; Lt. Col. Robert B. Purcell, 42, of Louisville, Ky., and Capt. Burton W. Campbell, 32, of Lorain, arrived at the base last week.

During their captivity, ranging from six to seven and one-half years, they were eligible for regular pay, subsistence allowances, combat pay plus $5 for each day as a POW.

Some of the POWs also set aside some of their pay as savings in a special armed services account that provided ten per cent interest, Apple said.

POW wives received allotments throughout their husbands' captivity, he said.

Apple said special financial reports had been prepared for each man, and each has been given a small, sliding, cardboard pay rule to tabulate his accumulated earnings.

No information would be given out concerning the financial standings of the POWs, he said.

"If we did, it would be an open invitation to someone to sell them insurance, stocks and land in Florida. Our job is to protect them from that."

At a news conference Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Heuliger, parents of the Wisconsin major, said their son "is a bit thin, but looks fine." They said they were surprised at his good health and appearance.

All five returned prisoners were flying jet fighters when they were shot down.

Soviet Ballet Dancer Unable To Emigrate

MOSCOW (AP) — Ballet dancer Valery Panov has complained that he is being prevented from emigrating to Israel because of objections from his mother-in-law.

Panov was rated one of the Soviet Union's most gifted character dancers until his dismissal from the Kirov Ballet company last year for saying he wanted to live in Israel. His wife, who is not Jewish, was also expelled from the company for wishing to leave with her husband.

Possible Uses Of Tax Rebates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
More than $100 million in federal revenue sharing funds for state, county and municipal-level government in Indiana doesn't appear to be burning a hole in anyone's pocket.

Most of the counties and communities checked by Associated Press members in Indiana this week have not made a final decision on where their money is going to go.

The federal revenue sharing bill provides a five-year program and distributes $5.3 billion in the first year. Indiana's share is $104.3 million, with about $35 million for the state government and about $69.5 million to counties, cities, towns and townships.

Many of the communities are holding public meetings to find out what the people want to spend the money for. Some have a rough outline of the projects to be financed with the money, but few have made final decisions on them.

Await Federal Transit Subsidy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Approval of a federal grant remained the last hurdle today to public ownership of Cincinnati Transit Inc.

American Controlled Industries Inc., parent firm of CTI, Wednesday approved the sale of the company to Cincinnati for $6.8 million.

City council approved the agreement Jan. 31. Voters approved a .3 per cent earnings tax increase for the purchase at the November election.

The city is seeking $13.5 million from the U.S. Department of Mass Transit to purchase new buses, improve service and slash the 55-cent fare to 25-cents.

Whooping Crane Population Declines

AUSTWELL, Tex. (AP) — The loss of eight whooping cranes from a wild flock of 59 that winters at the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge is "of enormous magnitude," says the refuge's acting manager Lee Malett.

That the graceful birds may be wintering elsewhere "is a long shot and highly unlikely," he said.

Seek Identity Of 'Lost' Boy In Brown County

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP) — A 14-year-old boy, who says he left home because he was in his parents way, has been in the Brown County Jail since Feb. 16 and authorities don't know what to do with him.

"I don't know," said Brown County Juvenile Probation officer Marvin Case, "some boys get lost, but this one—he really is lost."

The boy, who insists "My name is Tony Peterson," was picked up hitchhiking by the Ohio Highway Patrol after getting off a Greyhound bus from Bluefield, W.Va.

He escaped officers twice before they finally handcuffed him. The boy said his family lives in Tampa, Fla.

and that they formerly lived in Roanoke, Va. But he doesn't know anything about either city and police in neither city could find any record of him, Case said.

"He's sharp as a tack and clams up when you try to pin him down. He's shown too, that he has some knowledge of law enforcement procedures."

"He keeps telling us to let him go, he'll find his own way home. We thought about buying him a bus ticket but I don't guess we'll do that."

The boy had no luggage but "he was dressed pretty well." He wears a horizontally-striped maroon and yellow sweater, maroon pants with gray material below the knee, brown leather boots and a green-gray corduroy coat.

He is slightly built, five feet tall, 95 pounds. His hair is dark and slightly curly, blue eyes that flutter and flash when he is questioned and slightly freckled fair skin.

"He seems like a good boy," said Case. "He is well-mannered. We've put out information on him all over but we haven't had one call."

"If he would tell us the truth, we could clear this whole thing up right now."

Sheriff Charles Ernst admits the situation is "aggravating." But what makes it worse, the rural farm county has no facility for juveniles. The boy, until Wednesday, was kept in a jail cell with two juvenile offenders under sentence to an institution in Columbus.

"It's not right to have them in the jail," Ernst said.

The boy told police he boarded a bus at Tampa, Fla. and rode to Bluefield, W.Va. where he boarded another for Georgetown, Ohio, after making friends with another passenger, Mrs. Gordon Kessler of nearby Sardinia, Ohio.

"He doesn't seem homesick," said Case. "He never mentions his family . . . just says he ran away, he felt like he was in the way—that his parents didn't want him."

"I have never seen anything like this...his parents have made no inquiries that we can find."

It's tragic, and it's funny, to think we can't come up with something.

"I know boys can get lost, a lot of them do, this one really is lost," said Case.

Increase In Soviet Trade Could Bring Cleveland Boom

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— U.S. firms seeking trade with the Soviet Union will find it "hard to get the first contract," and small firms have as much chance as big ones, the head of the Soviet Union's trade delegation says.

Georgi Schukin, chief of the Kama Purchasing Commission, says "everything depends on whether they have a good product in which we are interested."

Schukin, who spoke to a Cleveland State University trade seminar Wednesday, also said the United States must grant the Soviet Union the trading privileges it gives other nations.

"First of all, the most favorable nation treaty has to be extended," he said.

"More close cooperation which seems to be on the way now," he added, "would greatly promote the cause of peace and mutual understanding on the basis of the principles of peaceful coexistence. Prospects are good for a continuous expansion of trade volume between the U.S. and the Soviet Union."

Schukin's New York-based commission is in charge of making contracts for the Kama River truck complex. The Cleveland-based W.S. Tyler Co. has secured a $30 million contract with the truck complex for foundry equipment.

Schukin's schedule included talks with TRW, Inc., about $20 million in submersible pumps.

Schukin also said negotiations were under way with Anderson IBEC of Strongsville on a contract for machinery for a synthetic rubber plant. The firm's president, Dr. John W. Dunning, said the pact for $10.3 million would be the largest in the firm's history.

Another seminar speaker, John T. Conner, Jr., deputy director of the federal Bureau of East-West Trade, said "a boom of major proportions" has been projected for the Cleveland port.

Returnee And Wife In 2nd 'Wedding' Of Rededication

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Army Capt. Johnnie Ray and his wife have rededicated their marriage because, as Dorothy Ray puts it, it was as though the former POW "were dead and now he's alive."

Mrs. Ray, the mother of three, said she felt she might not see her husband again when the Army listed him as missing in action after the South Vietnamese unit he was advising was overrun April 8, 1972, in Tay Ninh Province.

But the 25-year-old Ray, from Pauls Valley, Okla., was freed from a Viet Cong prison camp last week and was flown to Brooke Army Medical Center here to be reunited with his family.

Mrs. Ray said the brief ceremony on Tuesday in the Ft. Sam Houston chapel was mostly her idea.

And Mrs. Ray, 22, bought a new white wedding dress for it, said Army Chaplain Robert Howerton of Mountain Home, Ark.

Mrs. Ray said she was as nervous as she was when she and Ray were first married 4½ years ago, the chaplain said.

Ray also appeared as nervous but smiled when his slender brunette wife appeared at the chapel door. And she was smiling when she looked into his face and began to repeat her vows.

"She said it was as though he was dead and now he's alive. She even used the word 'resurrection,'" said the chaplain, who counseled the Baptist couple beforehand.

"She was anxious for God to bless their reunion."

Asked if the couple plan a second honeymoon, the chaplain replied: "I'm sure they do."

Tax Preparers Face Charges On False Returns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A pair of federal income tax preparers accused by the Internal Revenue Service of filing false returns were free on their own recognizance today, awaiting court appearances.

Pearl E. Brown of Springfield and Fred G. Myers of Columbus went before U.S. magistrates in Dayton and Columbus Wednesday following their arrest by IRS agents on charges of false return preparation.

Mrs. Brown was charged with 12 counts and Myers with 13.

Paul A. Schuster, IRS district director for Southern Ohio in Cincinnati, said Mrs. Brown, 46, is a registered public accountant who works in a Springfield office, and Myers, 55, was listed as an income tax preparer.

Saxbe, Taft Agree

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio Republican Sens. William Saxbe and Robert Taft Jr. both voted with the minority as the Senate decided 69-20 Wednesday to revive the rural electrification and telephone program terminated by President Nixon.

Insurance Man Tells Of Signing For Premiums

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former insurance salesman from Columbus, Ohio, told a Senate panel Wednesday he could owe his old employer as much as $10,000 because he was required to make good on defaulted premiums of policies he sold to college students.

"With this noose around my neck I am in the uncomfortable position of economic ruin," James F. Renard told a Senate Judiciary subcommittee looking into the insurance field.

Renard said the National Life and Accident Co. required him to sign a promissory note for each policy sold, which in effect made him responsible if the buyer stopped paying premiums. He said he agreed out of "tremendous enthusiasm for my new job," and naivety.

He said he now owes the company $637 and, since his outstanding policies have five years to run, the potential bill to him could be more than $10,000, even though he left the firm in 1971.

Data About Prison Camp Life Bared By POW Talks

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Bit by bit, a picture of prison camp life is beginning to emerge from conversations with returning POWs from Southeast Asia.

In a conversation with an old Navy buddy, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Bradley Edsel Smith gave additional insight into his years of captivity, a topic still reluctantly discussed publicly by most of the repatriated Americans.

Smith, whose father, Paul, lives in Lake Milton, Ohio, said he slept on a concrete slab without even a cloth under him.

"He said he could lie down on the floor here and go right to sleep just as well as I could on a bed," said Cmdr. Nicholas D. Langston, who was on the same mission when Smith was shot down March 25, 1966. The two had a reunion in Jacksonville Naval Hospital, where Smith is one of six returned POWs going through medical and military processing and Langston is confined with two broken legs from a low level ejection last month.

Langston said Smith "looks in better health now than when he was shot down." He attributed that to the fact that Smith "didn't do any smoking or drinking for seven years."

Langston said Smith also attributed the Vietnam peace agreement, in part, to renewed U.S. air bombing of the north.

"He mentioned that the B-52 bombings last year rattled the ground in his prison throughout the night,

Langston quoted Smith. "He said that, if anything, brought the North Vietnamese to their knees."

Recalling the mission on which Smith went down, Langston said: "Brad's bombs didn't drop—some kind of malfunction. On the way back he picked a target of opportunity, a bridge, and peeled off to try to drop his bombs. We rendezvoused over the sea, and Brad didn't show. I looked for him 20 minutes and didn't see him."

"Now I found out he ejected pretty low and went down in the river. He said some guys in little black suits came out to get him. One ugly man with scars all over his face pointed a weapon directly at him and he thought it was all over. But, they took him in the boat," Langston said.

DAVE TRUEX

Truex Named To SCOL Cage Squad

Circleville's Dave Truex was named to a first team spot on the six-man All-League basketball squad honored Wednesday night at the South Central Ohio League winter sports banquet at Miami Trace High School.

The Tigers' Dan Graham, 6-foot-1, gained a second team berth while Greg Hoskins and Robin Martin were given honorable mention in the selections. It was the third time that Truex has been honored by the SCOL coaches. He was a first team pick in his junior year and gained a second team berth as a sophomore.

Truex, a 6-foot all around performer for the Tigers, was the third leading scorer in the league this year with a game average of 17.9 points. His work on the boards netted the Tigers 189 rebounds, tops on the squad, and he led in assists with 53. In his three years of competition the Tigers have compiled a record of 41-15 and he has been a starter in all 56 games.

It was an all senior first team named by the coaches. Hillsboro's Don Jewett, 6-foot-2, was named captain of the squad. The other four spots went to: Muff Jones, 6-foot-3, Miami Trace; Robert Raizk, 6-foot, Wilmington; Tim Wilson, 6-foot-3; Wilmington; and Buddy Kennedy, 5-foot-9, Greenfield. The second team consisted of five seniors and one sophomore, Kevin Bailey, 5-foot-8, Hillsboro. In addition to Graham and Bailey, the second squad was made up of: Pete Jones, 6-foot-1, Miami Trace; Dick Wither-spoon, 6-foot-3, Washington C. H.; Chuck Bath, 6-foot-1, Washington C.H.; and Larry Crabtree, 6-foot, Greenfield.

Other players receiving honorable mention were: Dave Persinger, Rick Cottrill and Glen Gifford, Miami Trace; Jeff Wallace and Albert Donahue, Washington C.H.; Lawrence Turner and Mark Coffman, Hillsboro; Brad Halley and Tim Haley, Wilmington; and George Hamilton, Greenfield.

Co-championship trophies were presented to coaches John Lawhorn of Circleville and Jan Stauffer of Miami Trace. Both teams finished league play with marks of 7-3. Washington C. H. was 6-4, Hillsboro 5-5, Wilmington 5-5, and Greenfield 0-10.

Ted Mullins, sports director of WBNS-TV, channel 10, was the guest speaker for the evening. Entertainment was provided by the Miami Trace Folk Singers under the direction of Mrs. Cindi Stinson. It was announced that the SCOL track meet would be held May 1-2 in Circleville. The spring sports banquet will also be held at Circleville High School.

Baseball Contract Talks Continue; Exhibition Killed

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiations resumed today between baseball's owners and the Major League Players Association but the spring training exhibition game schedule has already been disrupted.

The Pittsburgh Pirates announced Wednesday that their three-game exhibition trip to Mexico City has been canceled and at least four other games—two apiece between the New York Mets and Boston Red Sox and Minnesota Twins and Detroit Tigers—will also be dropped.

An agreement between the players and owners calls for no exhibition games to be played until 10 days after teams report to training camp. If an agreement were reached today, the earliest players could report would be Friday. The 10-day period would then take teams to March 5 as the earliest date games could be played. The Mets-Red Sox and Tigers-Twins series were scheduled for March 3-4.

A two-game exhibition series by the New York Yankees in Nicaragua scheduled for March 3-4 had been canceled earlier because of the December earthquake in the Central American country.

Calvin Griffith, president of the Minnesota Twins, predicted that an agreement would be reached between the owners and players by March 1. "I've got a feeling we will be back in business by then," said Griffith. "We have only eight days until then... something has to give."

Meanwhile, talks continued between Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association, and John Gaherin, chief negotiator for the owners. A shroud of secrecy hung over the discussions with both parties maintaining terse silence over any progress.

Redskins Turn Back Tar Heels, 102-92

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"It was a great win for us, probably our biggest ever," Miami basketball Coach Darrell Hedric declared gleefully after his Redskins upset sixthrunk North Carolina 102-92 Wednesday night.

"Hopefully, this will provide us with the impetus to go on and wrap up our conference title," he added, looking ahead to Saturday's Mid-American contest with Kent State.

The Redskins hit a sizzling 57 per cent of their shots in upending the touted Tar Heels. Rich Hampton pumped in 25 points, Phil Lumpkin 24 and Dave Elmer 22.

"You simply can't beat shooting like that," said North Carolina Coach Dean Smith.

Miami led all the way except for a brief period in the first half when North Carolina moved ahead 48-47. The Redskins held off a Tar Heels rally midway through the second half, preventing them from getting any closer than three points.

"I feel they (Miami) would have preferred a slower tempo," Smith said, "but we set the pace and they beat us at our own game."

The loss was only the Tar Heels' fifth in 25 games.

Miami, the MAC leader with a 7-2 mark in the league, now is 14-8 overall.

In the only Mid-American Conference game played Wednesday night, Western Michigan eliminated Toledo from title contention by whipping the Rockets 70-54. It was the Broncos' first victory over Toledo in their last 14 meetings.

Toledo now has a 6-5 MAC record, while Western Michigan remains in the league cellar with 2-8.

man guard Jimmie Harvey added a season-high 17. Tom Kozelko topped Toledo shooters with 19 points.

Dayton defeated Kent State 74-66 as senior forward J.D. Grigsby netted 24 points, his best production of the season, and Mike Sylvester added 18. Donald Smith 16 and John Von Lehman 14. Sophomore Ricky Gates led the Kent attack with 20 points.

Cincinnati downed crosstown rival Xavier 78-68 as Derrek Dickore chipped in 23 points and Lloyd Batts 21. Connie Warren led Xavier with 21 points.

"This is a big rivalry and I'm glad we won in my first year as coach here," UC Mentor Gale Catlett said later.

Elsewhere Wednesday night it was Ashland 83, Grand Valley State, Mich. 76; Steubenville 69, Malone 37; Hiram 112, Carnegie-Mellon, Pa. 67; Defiance 92, Goshen, Ind. 76; Case Western Reserve 88, John Carroll 85; Cleveland State 73, South Dakota 70; Akron 89, Western Illinois 79; Urbana 94, Rio Grande 80.

In other major games Wednesday night, No. 2 ranked North Carolina State walloped Duke 74-50, eighth-ranked Maryland beat Duquesne 81-71, No. 11 St. John's was upset by St. Joseph's, Pa., 76-75, 19th ranked Virginia Tech romped over George Washington 117-89, 20th-ranked Jacksonville bombed South Alabama 101-56, American stopped LaSalle 88-79, Temple overwhelmed Rhode Island 93-80, St. Louis beat Drake 81-70, Virginia rapped Pitt 79-66 and Syracuse edged Niagara 80-77 in overtime.

POWs Get 5 Years Of Sports

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Prisoners of war returning to Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in nearby Dayton have five years of Sports Illustrated magazine to help catch up on recent sports events, thanks to a Cincinnati housewife.

"I got to cleaning up and I noticed my son Jim had all these magazines," said Mrs. Betty Fiore, "and I suggested that we wrap them up for the POWs."

Her husband, Frank, bundled them into the car and took them to Dayton. "They (base officials) said they were thrilled to have them," she said, "because they didn't have magazines that far back."

"It's no big deal," scowled Jim Fiore, 16, an admitted "sports nut," who plays football and track and wrestles at Roger Bacon High School.

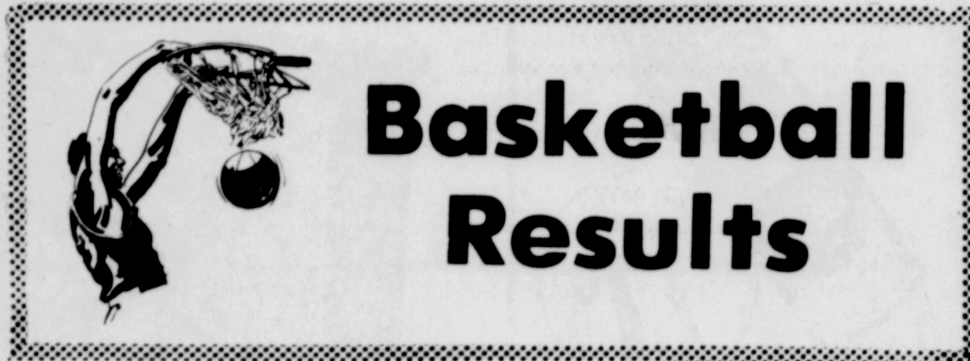

"They told me my room was going to have to be cleaned—I'm glad somebody who can use them will get them. I used to go back and look things up in them—but it's okay..."

"The old magazines were getting kinda dusty anyway...but I'm going to start collecting them again....I'm not too neat, the old ones weren't kept in order..."

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The

the American Hockey League, drew 35,473 fans in five home games in February and are far exceeding last year's attendance.

Crowds have averaged 4,089 per game in 29 games here, a total of 118,589, according to Swords' business manager Tom Young.

Last year's average was 2,790, he said.

Young Twins Player Fights Leukemia

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Danny Thompson, 26-year-old shortstop for the Minnesota Twins, has a form of leukemia. But he'll continue to man his position when the 1973 baseball season gets under way.

"I don't want sympathy," said Thompson. "I don't want people feeling sorry for me if I go 0-for-4 or make an error. I don't want this thing to become an alibi."

When Thompson left his suburban Minneapolis home Jan. 31 to take his annual physical for spring training, the Capron, Okla., native felt fatigued.

He wasn't concerned, though. After all, he had been working 66 hours a week as a car salesman and speaking three or four nights a week to groups of baseball fans in Minnesota.

The following day, his 26th birthday, he was asked to return to the office of Dr. Leonard Michienzi, a Twins' physician. The doctor had explained over the telephone that his white-cell count was high and another blood test was needed. "I asked him what they thought was wrong," Thompson related. "Doc said, 'We suspect you have leukemia.'"

Wittenberg Goes After Title

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Defending champion Wittenberg chases its seventh Ohio Conference Basketball Tournament title in the last 12 seasons when the event opens at two sites tonight.

The Tigers, who beat Kenyon 76-66 for the tournament crown last winter, are competing in the loaded Southern Division at Denison. The Northern Division playoffs will be at Wooster. Capital, Muskingum, Wittenberg and Otterbein, which tied for the regular season OC title with 10-2 records, all are in the Southern Division eliminations.

In the first round at Denison, Wittenberg opens against Ohio Wesleyan at 5 p.m., Capital plays Denison at 7 p.m. and Otterbein faces Marietta at 9 p.m.

Muskingum drew an opening round bye and will play at 9 p.m. Friday against the winner of Capital-Denison. The other two opening round victors clash at 7 p.m. Friday.

In the Northern Division tonight, Baldwin-Wallace and Oberlin play at 7 and Heidelberg and Kenyon at 9. Mount Union and Wooster drew the byes.

Mount Union awaits the Heidelberg-Kenyon winner at 7 p.m. Friday and Wooster draws the Baldwin-Wallace-Oberlin survivor at 9 p.m.

Divisional finals are Saturday night and the tournament title game Tuesday night at Denison. The winner advances to the NCAA Great Lakes College Division Regional Tournament.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — It sounds a bit weird; but, as of Friday, a movie house here will charge people money to see 10 selections from a television variety show of 1952-53 vintage.

Who'd pay for that? A lot of Sid Caesar fans. The 90-minute collection represents the best of the comedian's "Show of Shows," which ran four years on NBC in the early black-and-white 1950s. Modern one-hour versions of Caesar's special brand of lunacy also soon may appear on television. He and his partner, Max Liebman, are working on outlines of three TV specials they hope to sell to one of the networks. Younger viewers who've never seen Caesar's early shows should be advised they divided the American audience into two parts: those who came to praise Caesar and those who gave him the raspberry.

The latter folks generally were dismissed by the pro-Caesar faction as the sort of people who'd boo a funeral. The man they debated approached comedy then somewhat differently than other stars. Among other things, he portrayed an accident-prone mountain climber, a larcenous penny gum dispenser that hoped to hit it big as a rigged slot machine in Las Vegas and a jazz musician who was not of this world.

He called the musician Progress Hornsby. Progress played tenor sax and featured a radar operator in his far-out band "to keep track of the melody, man." Caesar, now 50, has been making sporadic movie, television and nightclub appearances and working in the theater. His biggest stage hit came in 1962 in "Little Me" on Broadway. The movie house revival of "Show of Shows" stems from an Esquire magazine cover story on him last May. It led to a reunion with Liebman, the program's producer and creator. Then came a six-month collaboration in which they chose the 10 best skits from "Show of Shows" and pared it all down to 90 minutes. After that, they went to work sketching the TV specials. One would feature a Caesar specialty — satirized movies. The victims would be silent, Italian, French, British and American films. If the networks buy the shows — and if they get high ratings — would Caesar like to go back to television on a full-time basis? "Not in a series every week," he said. "It's hard to turn out quality every week. I'm not putting down any (weekly) show, but I think it would be very limiting for me. "I'd much prefer to do two, three specials a year and a movie."

Congress Gets Nixon Paper On Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon disclosed today that he will recommend a tax reform bill to Congress as well as recommendations to alleviate the property tax burden on older Americans.

In his State of the Union message to Congress on the economy, Nixon dispelled doubts that he would present tax reform legislation of his own, saying only that it would build on further reforms of 1969 and 1971.

It was the only reference to tax reform legislation in the message, and the administration gave no details. The House Ways and Means Committee is holding hearings on reform legislation to close so-called loopholes in the income tax code.

The President also said he will submit bills to improve the nation's unemployment compensation program, minimum wage laws, the private pension system, and "the manner in which we deal with our transportation systems."

On property tax relief, Nixon covered the subject in a one sentence statement, saying the recommendations would be designed to alleviate "the crushing burdens which property taxes now create for older Americans."

He repeated his appeal to Congress to impose a rigid spending ceiling of $269 billion in fiscal 1974, saying: "The stakes are high."

"If we do not restrain spending and if my recommended cuts are reversed, it would take a 15 per cent increase in income taxes to pay for the additional expenditures."

It was the first time that Nixon has used that figure in referring to the spending ceiling. He has said in the past that failure to keep a tight rein on spending would mean higher taxes, more inflation or a combination of both.

Nixon said he has carried out his pledge not to recommend any programs that would require a general tax increase or create inflationary pressures.

Sales Tax Receipts Up

Sales tax receipts in Pickaway County during January were $7.66 per cent greater than receipts for January, 1972, according to a report from the office of Gertrude Donahey, treasurer of the state.

Mrs. Donahey reported receipts this year were $76,475.06 compared to $48,503.80 a year ago. Receipts for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1972, to Jan. 31, 1973 were $529,301.56 compared to $452,911.26 a year ago.

Motor vehicle tax collections in Pickaway County during January totaled $56,812.11, an increase of $16,453.14 over collections a year ago. The January collection brought the total for the fiscal year to $401,807.95 compared to $354,809.32 a year ago.

Fire Damages Smith Residence

An electric space heater was blamed as the cause of a fire Wednesday night which totally consumed a child's crib and damaged a bedroom floor and wall.

The fire, reported to the Circleville Fire Department just after 8 p.m. yesterday, occurred at the Ron Smith residence, 708 1/2 S. Washington St. Loss was determined at about $200 to the home and its contents.

An electric heater in the bedroom apparently overheated, burning a hole in the floor about a foot wide, completely destroying a baby bed nearby and scorching a wall. No one was injured in the blaze.

Mexico Now Prime Source Of Drug Traffic Into U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two congressmen say that narcotics traffickers, aided by widespread official corruption at all but the highest levels, have turned Mexico into one of the most important sources of illicit drugs entering the United States.

They quoted U.S. narcotics enforcement agents as describing Mexico as "a major producer, transshipment point and marketplace of drugs entering the United States. In relation to our drug problem, it is probably second only to France in significance."

Rep. Robert H. Steele, R-Conn., said that before Mexico's emergence as the key transit country for overseas heroin entering the United States, Argentina had been the center for Latin American narcotics smugglers. In recent years, he said, Argentine police have effectively cracked down on the French-Corsican rings that had operated out of Buenos Aires.

Steele and Rep. Morgan F. Murphy, D-Ill., said in an interview that Mexican President Luis Echeverria Alvarez and Pedro Ojeda Paullada, his attorney general, are "sincerely concerned, sincerely interested in providing cooperation" in halting drug trafficking through their country.

But after that level of commitment

Two Men Hurt In Truck Wreck

Two men were injured in a one-vehicle accident 7 p.m. Wednesday on the Harrisburg-Darbyville Rd., according to Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Bill Dountz.

Steven C. Gabbart, 18, Route 3, Orient, and George Barbary, 16, Route 3, Orient, were treated and released at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, for minor head abrasions.

Deputy Dountz said Gabbart was driving southwest on the road, just east of the Circleville-London-Northern Rd. intersection, when he failed to negotiate a sharp curve to the left.

Gabbart's truck ran into a telephone pole, pulling down wires and damaging the truck's front end.

Deputies Search For Stolen Trailer

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies are investigating the theft of an 8-foot mobile trailer taken from the roadside park north of South Bloomfield.

Richard Miller, owner of the Miller Construction Co., Ashland, Ky., said his crew was towing the trailer north on Route 23 last Thursday when the tow car developed clutch trouble.

The trailer was parked in the park until the car could be repaired. But when workers returned Sunday it was missing.

The trailer was owned by Folding Trailer Sales, Portsmouth.

to stemming the narcotics trade, "there's a hell of a big drop," Steele said.

The congressmen said U.S. agents in Latin-America told them that "in a practical sense, corruption in Mexico is so imbedded that any solution to the narcotics problem would be difficult."

Still, Steele said, the Mexican attorney general conferred with U.S. officials last Thursday, then three days ago moved police and Army troops into the state of Sonora near San Luis, arrested 15 persons and confiscated 9.5 tons of marijuana and one kilogram (2.2 pounds) of heroin.

Murphy and Steele visited five Latin American countries early this year to study U.S. drug-control assistance for

Explo 72 Trip Explained To Ashville Kiwanis

David Lattimer presented the program for the Ashville Kiwanis Club meeting on Tuesday. Lattimer showed slides and told of his experiences at Explo 72 in Dallas, Texas.

A delegation of youth from the Church of Christ in Christian Union was part of a larger group which boarded 33 buses in Columbus.

Lattimer said that the 100,000 youth at the evangelistic congress participated in workshops. The workshops provided opportunities to learn how they could share Christian faith. The Rev. Billy Graham was a speaker at several of the evening sessions. Lattimer told of a central Ohio church group who returned from the youth meeting and organized their own mini Explo 72 which was so successful they have started plans on mini Explo 73. Vice president Russ Toole presented Lattimer a tie tac showing Ashville's unique traffic light.

Bill Glitt was named Kiwanian of the month. Glitt has been helping the Key Club and their advisers on the Jeff Beatty Fund. The Key Club through its projects has helped raise over $2,600 for the fund. Mike Wilson, Virgil Cress and Charlie Hart were visitors from the Circleville Kiwanis Club.

the House Foreign Affairs Committee. They said U.S. agents told them that so-called brown heroin, produced from Mexican opium, has begun to appear in U.S. East Coast cities where U.S. efforts in the Middle East created a shortage of Turkish heroin.

Commissioners Postpone Ditch Hearing

A hearing on a proposed watershed ditch was recessed by Pickaway County Commissioners until next Wednesday after about two acres of the land involved was believed to be in Ross County.

Roy Anderson sought approval of the project, which would drain wet land east and south of Williamsport. However, an aerial view of the project indicated the final phase of the watershed might include Ross County land.

Commissioners Wayne Hines, Dick Tootle and Robert Liston asked County Engineer Henry McCrady to survey the area and determine exact locations.

If the land is found to be in Ross County, the petition would be declared invalid.

No Bible Found In Maldon Jail

LONDON (AP) — When a prisoner asked for a Bible to read in his cell, a search of the police station at Maldon, Essex, revealed there was not a copy on the premises.

A Bible was borrowed from the vicar, and when it became known that Bibles were wanted at the police station, 17 more arrived, including two huge, 100-year-old family Bibles.

Now there is a small Bible in every cell.
